

The British Journal of Social Work

50th Anniversary Virtual Issue

The British Journal of
SOCIAL WORK

BASW
The professional association for social work and social workers

Explore a special collection of 50 hand-picked articles from across the last 50 years of publication. These articles reflect the most significant milestones in our goal to advance social work research and practice.

This collection spans four main areas of study which have remained at the forefront of social work research:

- › Social Work with Children, Young People, and Families
- › Social Work with Adults
- › Social Work Education and the Workforce
- › Theory, Research, Ethics, and Values.

Articles have been chosen for their importance to these topics, and each remains relevant for contemporary research and practice.

The collection is free to access until June 2021.

Discover the collection