The Elgar Companion to the International Criminal Court

Edited by Margaret M. deGuzman, Temple University, US and Valerie Oosterveld

'This book is a very welcome contribution to scholarship on the International Criminal Court (ICC). It contextualises the ICC and discusses its role in developing international criminal law. An excellent line-up of authors take novel perspectives and angles that deepen our knowledge of the ICC and its engagement with domestic jurisdictions, general international law and the wider world of international diplomacy. The book is an essential guide for policymakers, legal practitioners and scholars interested in human rights and international criminal justice.'

The Governance of Criminal Justice in the European Union

Transnationalism, Localism and Public Participation in an Evolving Constitutional Order

Edited by Ricardo Pereira, Annegret Engel and Samuli Miettinen

This timely book provides an astute assessment of the institutional and constitutional boundaries, interactions and tensions between the different levels of governance in EU criminal justice. Probing the conceptual and theoretical underpinnings of the EU's approach to transnational crime, it proposes improved mechanisms for public participation in the governance of EU criminal law, designed to ensure better transparency, accountability and democratic controls.

Intersections of Law and Culture at the International Criminal Court

Edited by Julie Fraser and Brianne McGonigle Leyh

'This is a highly original and thought-provoking book on the ways in which culture impacts the work of the ICC. While some topics may be more familiar to lawyers, like cultural defences, other chapters discuss novel areas where law and culture intersect in relation to the Court. As detailed in this extraordinary treatise, the Court has continuously grappled with cultural entanglements both inside and outside its proceedings. For anyone interested in this global institution, this book is a welcome and much-needed addition to ICC scholarship.'

EU Migration Agencies

The Operation and Cooperation of FRONTEX, EASO and EUROPOL

David Fernández-Rojo

'In this detailed and precise guide, the author traces how Europe's border, police, and asylum agencies are evolving in an interactive system of governance. EU Migration Agencies maps out lines of authority, pathways of power, and unexpected feedback loops.'

– David Scott FitzGerald, University of California, San Diego, US

Negotiated Settlements in Bribery Cases

A Principled Approach

Edited by Tina Søreide and Abiola Makinwa

'Negotiated settlements resolve corporate corruption cases worldwide, but the practice is not standardized or well understood. Søreide and Makinwa's excellent book consists of contributions from leading legal experts on the topic; it ought to be essential reading for both lawyers and anti-corruption campaigners. The contributors have no easy answers, highlighting both difficulties and strengths. But they stress the need for an international consensus to provide consistency and justice across legal regimes.'

– Susan Rose-Ackerman, Yale University, US
