

Scottish Centre for Crime and Justice Research

Dear all,

SCCJR would like to invite you to our forthcoming Seminar which takes place on Friday 5th March, 12noon (GMT).

We are pleased to welcome Professor Thomas Ugelvik from the Department of Criminology and Sociology of Law, University of Oslo, who will present his paper on

The role of interpersonal trust in desistance processes'

In this seminar Professor Ugelvik will address the important empirical question of how the experience of being trusted can be a turning point in people's lives. He will focus on the relationship between current and former prisoners and various members of their extended networks, employers, neighbours and co-workers, as well as family members. Thomas will argue that the experience of being trusted can lead to hope and the belief that a better future is possible.

Feel free to pass on this email to any colleagues who may be interested in attending as all are welcome.

Click on this link to register your place and I will send you a Zoom link next week.

Many thanks,

Rachelle

Rachelle Cobain
Centre Communications Officer

Scottish Centre for Crime and Justice Research
Please note I work part-time Mon-Wed

Scottish Centre for Crime and Justice Research | School of Social and Political Sciences | University of Glasgow | Ivy Lodge | 63 Gibson Street | Glasgow | G12 8LR | University of Glasgow charity number SC004401