"Collaborative Community Approaches to Address Serious Violence"

Dear Sir/Madam,

I'd like to introduce myself – my name is Dr Jaimee Mallion.

I'm a lecturer and researcher in Forensic Psychology at London South Bank University, UK.

I was wondering if you would be able to share the opportunity below with your members:

I am currently editing a special issue of the open-access Societies journal on "Collaborative Community Approaches to Address Serious Violence", with my colleague, Dr. Erika Gebo (Suffolk University, USA).

We are reaching out to you because of your expertise in this area and would like you to consider submitting an article to this journal. We are particularly interested in articles in which practitioners are part of the writing process. This is a wonderful opportunity to have your work disseminated to a global audience. Please note, there has been a fee waiver applied for this special issue.

You can find more details about the issue here:

Please contact us with any questions you may have and thank you for your consideration.

Kind Regards,

Dr Jaimee Mallion & Dr Erika Gebo
