

Message forwarded via CCJ-News, Hans-Juergen Kerner

Announcement of European Society of Criminology Awards

The Policing Working Group of the European Society of Criminology would like to recognise the talent and considerable contributions made to policing knowledge by its members.

As such, an annual prize event to be held at the European Society of Criminology Conference has been established to provide that opportunity.

For the virtual conference in 2021 there are three prizes available to members of the European Society of Criminology to self-nominate or to nominate others:

- A. Policing Book Prize
- B. Policing Journal Article Prize
- C. Early Career Prize

Please look at this document outlining the awards and eligibility in more detail and please consider nominating yourself or others who are leading the way or carving new avenues in policing studies.

If there are members of the European Society of Criminology who are not yet members of the Policing Working Group, please consider joining this engaging and supportive group by completing this form.

We look forward to hearing from you with any questions or submissions to this e-mail address (escpolicingworkinggroup@gmail.com).

Dr Tom Cockcroft, B.Sc. (Hons), M.Sc. (Econ.), PhD, SFHEA

Reader Criminology. Visiting Senior Research Fellow - Canterbury Centre for Policing Research, Canterbury Christ Church University

Series Editor – Routledge Advances in Police Practice and Knowledge
Post-Graduate Research Tutor
Leeds Beckett University, CL1014 Calverley Building
City Campus, Leeds LS1 3HE
Email: T.W.Cockcroft@leedsbeckett.ac.uk
Tel: 0113 81 28492

My latest book – 'Police Occupational Culture: Research and Practice' (University of Bristol: Policy Press, 2020) is available at <https://policy.bristoluniversitypress.co.uk/police>

