

New Online Seminar Series

Early Career Perspectives in Carceral Geography

Thursday 17 June 2021, 2.30pm-4.45pm (UK time)

Early Career Perspectives is a new online seminar series, showcasing the work of early career researchers in carceral geography.

Programme

The first seminar will be held via Zoom on Thursday 17 June 2021, 2.30pm to 4.45pm (UK time) and will feature the following presentations:

- Conceptualizing “Prisoners” as forced migrants and effectiveness of social networks among “Prisoners”
Aziz Unusah – PhD Researcher, University of Leeds, UK
- SWIFT: Shifting sense of self and relational power dynamics among Colorado’s incarcerated wildland firefighters
Ben Nevis Barron – PhD Researcher, University of Colorado, Boulder, US
- Courtroom space and carceral geography
Jack Head – MRes Researcher, Birkbeck, University of London, UK

For abstracts and researcher biographies, please see the attached PDF or visit <https://carceralgeography.com/earlycareerperspectives/>

Presentations will be followed by a panel discussion, audience Q&A, and networking session:

- Chair: Jennifer Turner – Senior Researcher, University of Oldenburg, Germany
- Panel host: Dominique Moran – Professor in Carceral Geography, University of Birmingham, UK

Registration

Attendance is free of charge and open to carceral geography researchers at all career stages.

Please sign up via Eventbrite: <https://www.eventbrite.co.uk/e/early-career-perspectives-in-carceral-geography-tickets-152991125575>

Get involved

If you would be interested in presenting your research at a future event in this series, please email Eleanor March, Research Fellow in Interdisciplinary Research at the University of Birmingham: e.march@bham.ac.uk

Kind regards,

Dr Eleanor March

Research Fellow in Interdisciplinary Prison Research

Pronouns: she/her

University of Birmingham
School of Geography, Earth and Environmental Sciences (GEES)

College of Life and Environmental Sciences
Edgbaston, Birmingham, B15 2TT, UK

(I am currently working from home, so please do not send post to this address.)

e.march@bham.ac.uk

www.birmingham.ac.uk

victorian-prisons.com

twitter.com/eleanor_march

twitter.com/VictorianPrison