

Open Position, University of Cambridge, England

Andreas von Hirsch Professorship of Penal Theory and Ethics

Department/Location: Institute of Criminology

Reference: JL28928

Closing date: 01 February 2022

The Board of Electors to the Andreas von Hirsch Professorship of Penal Theory and Ethics invite applications for this Professorship from persons whose work falls within the general field of the Professorship to take up appointment on 1 May 2022 or as soon as possible thereafter.

Candidates will have an outstanding research record and an international reputation in some part of the field of penal theory and ethics. They will also have the vision, leadership, experience and enthusiasm to build on current strengths in maintaining and developing a leading research presence. They will hold a PhD or equivalent postgraduate qualification.

Standard professorial duties include teaching and research, examining, supervision and administration. The Professor will be based in Cambridge. A competitive salary will be offered.

To apply online for this vacancy and to view further information about the role, please visit: <https://www.jobs.cam.ac.uk/job/32273/> or contact the Human Resources, University Offices, The Old Schools, Cambridge, CB2 1TT, (email: professorships@admin.cam.ac.uk).

Further information is available at:

<https://www.hr.admin.cam.ac.uk/professorships>

Applications should be made online, no later than 1 February 2022. They should consist of a letter of application, a statement of current and future research plans, a curriculum vitae and a publications list, including details of two recent articles or chapters which members of the Board of Electors may read. Applicants should also send details of three referees.

Informal enquiries may be directed to Professor Loraine Gelsthorpe, Director of the Institute of Criminology: lrg10@cam.ac.uk.

Please quote reference JL28928 on your application and in any correspondence about this vacancy.

The University actively supports equality, diversity and inclusion and encourages applications from all sections of society.

The University has a responsibility to ensure that all employees are eligible to live and work in the UK.