

CALL FOR MANUSCRIPTS

The Journal of Ethnicity in Criminal Justice explores the prejudice that currently affects our judicial system, our courts, our prisons, and our neighborhoods all around the world. This unique peer-reviewed and multidisciplinary journal focuses exclusively on crime, criminal justice, and ethnicity/race. It also provides scholarly thoughts and informed opinions on current and controversial issues, including racial profiling, race and death penalty, drug laws and minorities, and felony disenfranchisement laws and ethnicity. The journal encourages submissions of quantitative and qualitative articles, research notes articles, and theoretical commentaries.

For more information about the Journal of Ethnicity in Criminal Justice and for Author's Instructions, we kindly refer you to the journal homepage at <https://www.tandfonline.com/action/authorSubmission?show=instructions&journalCode=WECJ>.

Questions should be sent to the Editor, Dr. Janice Joseph at janice.joseph@stockton.edu.