Workshop on availability of case-level sentencing data in Europe

18 January 2024 13:00-15:30 CET

online (Zoom)

Are you interested in studying sentencing across Europe using case-level data? Join us for a workshop, during which scholars will present available data in their countries with the aim of fostering comparative research. Specifically, scholars from Czechia, England & Wales, Finland, France, Germany, Hungary, Israel, the Netherlands, Russia, Slovakia, Spain and Switzerland will be discussing data from their jurisdictions. The workshop is organized by the Empirical Research on Sentencing (ERoS) group.

If you have at your disposal (i) official (census or census-like) (ii) case-level (iii) sentencing data from a (iv) European country that is (v) not enumerated above and would be willing to present the data, please, drop a message either to Jakub Drápal (drapalja@prf.cuni.cz) or to José Pina-Sánchez (J.PinaSanchez@leeds.ac.uk).

The workshop takes place online on Thursday 18 January 13:00-15:30 Central European Time. In order to get a link, please register at https://cesnet.zoom.us/meeting/register/tJYvduCoqTkiHNDNmK_XY-6VzmKVnPhjzGkD.

Looking forward!
