

Dear colleagues,

The Department of Criminology and Sociology of Law at the University of Oslo marks 70 years in 2024.

As part of the anniversary, it will host the digital seminar series

Critical Histories of Criminology: Stories from the Seven Continents”.

Seven speakers from six continents will give a critical account of their continent’s history of criminology:

June 5th	Eugenio Raúl Zaffaroni on Latin America’s History of Criminology
August 28th	Sandra Walklate on the UK and Europe’s History of Criminology
September 18th	Biko Agozino on Africa’s History of Criminology
October 9th	Juan Tauri on Oceania’s History of Criminology
October 30th	Joanne Belknap on North America’s History of Criminology
November 6th	Jianhong Liu on Asia’s History of Criminology
December 4th	Heidi Mork Lomell on Scandinavia’s History of Criminology

The seventh continent, Antarctica, does not have a representative but is an invitation to imagine future directions in criminology.

More information and registration at: <https://www.jus.uio.no/ikrs/english/research/events/guest-lectures-and-seminars/2024/criminology-guest-lectures.html>

Kind regards,
David R. Goyes, PhD
www.drgoyes.com